

Science

We have covered all the science objectives for this block and this session will be your chance to show off all that you know. Think about some of the things you have learnt over the last few sessions. You will be making a PowerPoint presentation. Open PowerPoint and select 'blank presentation'. Go through the creation of a title slide and make sure you include in your introduction: text box, image from the Internet, changing the background, adding animations for the different boxes to appear - (information about using PowerPoint can be found on the Microsoft website). Display the independent task prompt sheet (session resource).

Create the next pages of a PowerPoint about healthy teeth using the prompt from the session resource. Look back through your work and try to add the final digestive system slide.
